Greetings:

It is incredible to think we are almost through the 1st trimester. The year seems to be flying by! We have enjoyed watching our students find success in the classroom and the many activities they participate in. These successes have been hard fought and we understand the challenges we are all facing in this difficult time.

#BeeBetter

I love watching our kids step outside of their comfort zones to help others. We have a variety of activities going on right now that give me hope for the coming generation. Our kids have been working hard to raise money for the annual adopt a family activity which seeks to support families and children in need with food and gifts for Christmas. We also have groups working on collecting food for local food banks and supporting Toys for Tots. The best way we can get through hard times is focusing on the needs of those who struggle and providing them service and relief. If any of you want to help support any of these causes, there is still time. Reach out to the office to learn how you can donate or provide service during this time of need.

Important Dates/Information:

Monday Expectations: students who come to school on Monday are expected to be working with teachers in classrooms from 8:40-10:40. At 10:40 (or before if they do not need to meet with additional teachers), all students are expected to report to one of the supervised areas—room 242, room 243, or the library—of the school to continue working on assignments. We have had several students show up to school on Monday simply to loiter and “hang out.” While we understand students may not have enough things to keep them busy from 8:40-12:40, if a student is at school, we do expect they are under the supervision of school personnel. If students only need to come for a portion of the day, we will ask them to check out at the office with parent approval before leaving campus. As parents, we would ask you communicate these expectations to your kids so we can work to keep them healthy and safe. Each student who attends on Monday will receive a tracker slip that will be utilized throughout the day to ensure they are where they are supposed to be when they are supposed to be there. Monday’s are a great time to get additional help in current classes, as well as take care of any Incomplete grades a student may have received last trimester.

Finals will be happening this coming week. Students can anticipate taking finals in their odd period classes (1st, 3rd, 5th) on Thursday, Nov. 19, and their even period classes (2nd, 4th, 6th) on Friday, Nov. 20.

Thanksgiving break for students will be Nov. 23rd-Nov. 27. We encourage everyone to engage in self-care over this break so we can tackle second trimester with renewed vigor.

Sincerely,
